OUR STORY

Starting from humble beginnings in 2013, with a drive to provide eco-friendly packaging as an alternative to normal plastic packaging, Nature Pack decided to start manufacturing its very own 100% biodegradable food packaging range. With a small office, 2 staff members and only 50 kg's of raw materials, we started building kraft products by hand and selling them to the local community. Since 2013, Nature Pack has continually looked for innovative and creative ways to expand our range and build our brand. Currently, Nature Pack has over 350 products and uses more than 10 tons of raw materials a month, in 3 factories, to produce quality compostable products.

Our Vision at Nature Pack is to create, empower, and innovate opportunities, people, and products to become a national leader in the manufacturing of 100% biodegradable food packaging.

MANUFACTURING PROCESS

At Nature Pack, we manufacture +- 70% of our products in-house, whereby 30% of our products are imported from around the world. Our goal is to be able to manufacture all of our products under one roof, creating jobs and building our local community.

Raw kraft material is imported from North America, where it is sheeted and produced into various forms of kraft products. These kraft products run through a series of guillotines, moulding, folding and laser machines in order for us to produce finished kraft products that our customers are satisfied with.
